

Tuscany's Argentario Golf Club hosts the 2022 Senior Italian Open, an important appointment ahead of the 2023 Ryder Cup in Rome

The Argentario Golf Club will host the Senior Italian Open from 21 to 23 October 2022. It is one of the most luxurious events on the Legend Tour's schedule.

Located in Porto Ercole, southern Tuscany, Argentario Golf Club is the country's only PGA National Golf Course Italy, awarded by the Professional Golfers' Association in 2019.

The course will deliver a stern test for players with narrow, tree-lined fairways, small greens and water hazards, adding to the layout's technical difficulty where a player's accuracy will need to come to the fore.

Among the international champions who will compete are Michael Campbell, winner of a US Open; Barry Lane, winner of 5 European Tours; Paul Lawrie, Open Championship winner and Ryder Cup player; as well as the Italians Peppo Canonica, Costantino Rocca and many others.

For this prestigious event, the invitation is addressed not only to professionals but also to amateurs, who will be able to play the Championship Pro-Am on 20 October (formula 1 pro + 3 amateurs) and a special 36-hole competition on 21 and 22 October, in which every amateur will be able to accompany two professionals.

For those who want to stay on the golf course during the Senior Italian Open, the 5-star Argentario Golf & Wellness Resort offers packages for stays from 2 to 5 nights, including breakfast, registration for the golf competitions, welcome dinner and awards ceremony, and entrance to the wellness centre.

The Resort offers 73 design rooms and luxury villas with spectacular views of the golf course and the Tuscan panorama, with exclusive services at guests' fingertips for a stay that is all about privacy and relaxation.

The golf course, the driving range, the padel and tennis courts, the five-a-side football pitch, the swimming pools and jogging paths are available for guests to enjoy a stay immersed in nature and well-being. The Espace Wellness Centre also has private cabins for exclusive face and body treatments, indoor pools, a sauna and a gym.

Finally, the range of services is completed by the Club House Restaurant and the Dama Dama Restaurant, where Chef Emiliano Lombardelli delights guests with an haute-cuisine menu rich in traditions and flavours.

To better enjoy the experience of the Open, the Argentario PGA National Golf Academy offers the specialized knowledge of its teachers and the advanced TrackMan IIIe and Capto technology, available to both experienced golfers and beginners who want to approach this sport full of charm and tradition.
