

Argentario Golf Club will host the 2025 Italian Open

The 82nd edition of the Italian Open will take place on the Argentario Golf Club course in 2025, a sporting event of the utmost importance and prestige.

Thanks to the commitment of the president of the FIG, Franco Chimenti, of the Tuscany Region, the president Eugenio Giani, and the councillor Leonardo Marras, the Italian Open returns to Tuscany after more than 40 years.

After the resounding success of the Ryder Cup in Rome, this Open will bring a great movement of people, tourism and general interest for the whole of Maremma, starting immediately.

DP World Tour, the organizer of the European Tour, considered the Argentario golf course technically valid, scenographic and the location worthy of the event. Also present at the presentation conference were the mayor, Arturo Cerulli, and the councillor, Silvano Scotto, who committed to investing resources and improvements to the infrastructure in this next important event.

Sky Sports, always close to the world of golf, will broadcast the event with live coverage and insights.

150 of the best golfers in the world will arrive, and the Argentario Golf Club will be the stage for an extraordinary sporting event.
